

About me:

My name is Vojtěch Klinger and I study a master's programme at the Department of Drama in Education. Prior to that I graduated from the University of Cambridge in Experimental Psychology (I worked as a student representative there too), and in addition to theatre, I am interested in cognitive sciences and science popularisation in general.

Why I run for AS DAMU:

I sometimes hear my schoolmates voice rather critical remarks regarding the school, yet few of those constructively convey the criticism to those who can do something about it. Of course, I criticise too, and quite a lot, but I have no problem telling anyone in any position what I think could be changed. And I also think that I can say that in a calm, constructive and civil way.

What I can do for you:

First, relay your requests, opinions and/or wishes.

Second, contribute towards the Senate improving the "quality of life at DAMU". I want to contribute towards ensuring that the Senate works as constructively as it can and avoids addressing issues such as a lack of toilet paper.

Third, pursue my own visions. This means opening another terrace on the third floor. It is closed now but it could be opened following certain alterations. The Department's representative started the discussion on the project before me, but then the coronavirus struck.
